

accidents don't have to happen

xylem

Alcohol and open water are a dangerous combination

Alcohol affects your balance, making it easier to fall in

Alcohol slows your reaction time, making it harder to spot hazards

Alcohol impairs your judgement, making you more likely to take risks

All of these things increase your risk of drowning.
Avoid drinking alcohol near water.

For more information, visit the RoSPA website:
rospa.com/water-safety

